

Designer Faiza Seth has her own show-stopper

▶ AS THE owner of high-end interior design company Casa Forma, Faiza Seth is used to kitting out the swish pads of celebs. But her own home is also a bit of a show-stopper. "It's a three-bedroom, three-bathroom duplex in Mayfair," she tells me. "And all the interiors are designed by my company."

Faiza is fast becoming one of London's best-known businesswomen and is founder of charity Soham for Kids, which helps orphans in India, but she still finds time for a home life. "I live with my housekeeper, Grace, and husband Pallak," she says.

"My favourite room is my walk-in wardrobe as it's somewhere I can sneak away when I want peace and total privacy – it even has its own little bathroom."
